

DISCLAIMER

Terms of Use of the Chatbot of VOLT EUROPA

This disclaimer applies exclusively and uniquely to the use of the Chatbot of VOLT EUROPA.

The use of the Chatbot is free of charges to its human user i.e. the person using the Chatbot ("the user").

All servers used to operate the Chatbot are located in the European Union.

USES:

1. The Chatbot provides computer generated information in relation to enquiries made by the user via user input and the underlying algorithm. The enquiries may cover a variety of topics or subject matter.
2. The use of the Chatbot requires input by the user and confirmation via a button.
3. The functionality of the Chatbot cannot be guaranteed.
4. The offer by VOLT EUROPA to the user to draw on the Chatbot is non-binding. The user guarantees to VOLT EUROPA to use the Chatbot properly and according to law.

DISCLAIMER:

1. VOLT EUROPA cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information provided. The Chatbot sets out to supply neutral and non-partisan data. The Chatbot information is not moderated or checked and is no substitute for prudent verification by the user of the facts it supplies, where at all possible. The information supplied by the Chatbot is non-binding and VOLT EUROPA cannot be held liable in a court of law for the accuracy of the information the Chatbot provides.
2. VOLT EUROPA is not liable for any links to other platforms of information which the Chatbot provides or makes available to the user.
3. VOLT EUROPA cannot be held accountable to the rights holder of any content which infringes the copyright or trademark of third parties.

4. VOLT EUROPA reserve the right to change, alter, modify, add or delete the service or to discontinue the service permanently or temporarily. The user may not demand the use of the Chatbot at any time.
5. None of the “members” of VOLT EUROPA have any liability for the use of the service of the Chatbot or the results of the service.

GOVERNING LAW:

Belgian Law applies to the use of the Chatbot. The Belgian Courts have exclusive jurisdiction over any disputes which may arise.